

Notice to Members

The magazine has been a big talking point for months. As you no doubt realise the cost is a huge drain on the finances of the AAA.

The board has decided, after lengthy discussion, to cease further publications of the Appaloosa journal at this time. As the amount of advertising in the journal has decreased significantly, the shortfall between members contributions and publication costs have become too extreme. There has long been a shortfall which the AAA has to underwrite.

Future requirements to re-introduce the Appaloosa journal will be monitored on an annual basis.

In its place there will be newsletters emailed to financial members on a regular basis, or posted to those who do not have the internet.

Members have been requesting a reduction in membership costs and the board have chosen to implement a new fee structure for memberships as shown below.

The decision to cease magazine publication was not taken lightly but reduction to membership fees and keep the magazine was not possible.

Also for member information, all fees include GST.
